Aquafest 'hooligan': Future now in doubt

AQUAFEST – one of Ely's biggest community events – could be scrapped after local dignitaries had a bucket of water hurled over them.

Thousands of people celebrated the annual extravaganza in Riverside on Sunday but Ely Rotarians, who organise the event, say they are so angry with an "act of hooliganism" that happened that they are considering making this year's the last.

That "act of hooliganism" involved a bucket full of water being thrown over Ely's Mayor, Cllr Elaine Griffin-Singh, Eric Grant, president of the Rotary Club of Ely, and their entourage as they passed underneath the Babylon Bridge on their boat.

It is tradition for people to squirt those competing in the main raft race with water as they pass underneath the bridge.

But officials did not notice that someone had managed to take a full bucket of water on to the bridge and, despite being warned not to, hurled it over the dignitaries.

Mr Grant said the "disgusting" act ruined the atmosphere of this year's event, which was celebrating its 35th year, as far as organisers were concerned.

He said: "Myself and Elaine were absolutely soaked. As we approached the bridge there was a man hanging over the edge with a large bucket of water. Somebody shouted up to him not to throw it and with that he put the bucket down and folded his arms.

"But as we came out the other side of the bridge the bucket went all over us. It was a disgusting, deliberate act and it left us all feeling angry and disappointed.

"Many of the Rotarians think Aquafest should be cancelled as we can't allow hooligans like this to ruin things or put people in danger."

Cllr Griffin-Singh was unavailable to comment on the issue but Mr Grant says he is taking the issue to the police.

He said: "We've had issues in the past and around three or four years ago a water bomb was thrown at a contestant in the raft race and they suffered a detached retina – it's dangerous and it's not on."

"I'm going to be taking it to the police and I'm determined to catch who did this. I've been told it is classed as assault and I want to see them punished."

Callum completes epic ride in memory of his brother

DETERMINED teenager Callum Fairhurst has completed his epic cycle ride across the UK in memory of his brother.
The mammoth challenge saw Callum, from Soham, and his teammates, David Culley, Nick Culley and Rod Garnham, visiting every major town and city in the UK.
On Friday, just six days after the quartet set off from Cambridge, they completed their 'Chains for Change' challenge, which covered approximately 800 miles, at the Weatheralls Primary School in Soham to visit the new 'Fairhurst Hall'.

The hall is part of the school's new extension and has been named after Callum's brother, Liam, who lost his battle with cancer, aged 14, in 2009.
Liam not only battled cancer for four years but also raised almost £350,000 for children's cancer charities during his fight against the disease.

The cycle ride also saw the team pass through London's Downing Street where they got the chance to talk to Chancellor George Osborne about the Liam Fairhurst Foundation - the charity set up by Liam's family in his memory.
The charity supports young people affected by illness and disabilities, and so far the Chains for Change challenge has raised more than £4,000. To make a donation, visit www.justgiving.com/chainsforchange

Firefighters called back to Stretham business

THE remains of a huge fire at a storage and distribution firm in Stretham caught light – sparking another 999 call-out.
One fire crew from Ely was called to Masters Logistical Services Ltd, in Ely Road, at around 2.10pm last Thursday.
A hot spot in the rubble left over from the huge blaze there the previous Thursday had ignited.
A spokeswoman for Cambridgeshire Fire and Rescue Service said: "A hot spot in the rubble had ignited, causing smouldering."
"At present the scene is being monitored by the owners, so this was picked up quickly and a call to the fire service was made."
"One crew from Ely attended and dampened down the scene using hose reels."
As previously reported, the huge inferno broke out at the business last month and tore through a factory measuring about 100m by 40m.
Investigations concluded the fire started in an outdoor incinerator at the site and spread to a nearby trailer.

'He confessed to killing' court told

A TRAVELLER on trial for murder confessed to his crime while sharing burglary stories with his girlfriend's stepfather, a jury heard.
Michael Swords told Cambridge Crown Court this week that Frankie Parker – accused of murdering retired farmer Llywelyn Thomas in his Chittering home in 2011, along with uncle Gary Smith, 21 – admitted to a break-in "gone wrong".
Mr Swords said Parker, 26, had moved into the home he shared with fiancée Susan Parkinson and her daughter Vanessa, who the defendant was in a relationship with.
He said: "I was asking him what previous he had because I have done burglaries myself. I told him about burglaries I had done and he spoke about one he had done that went wrong."

JORDAN DAY

Mr Swords said Parker told him he had been looking for a safe with another man – he didn't know who – and was disturbed by the house's owner. He said: "Frankie said he hit him with a crowbar a couple of times and the other man punched him up a few times as well."
Amjad Malik QC, defending Parker, said Mr Swords was lying in an attempt to claim reward money and end Parker's relationship with Vanessa.
This week Vanessa also told the court that she "felt sorry" for Gary Smith because he could not eat or sleep for a fortnight after the killing.
In a police video interview read back to her in court she said: "I felt sorry for Gary, not being funny, because after it [the alleged murder] happened he could not eat for a couple of weeks, he could not sleep for a couple of weeks, he couldn't do anything. He was in shock."

Bernard Tetlow QC, defending Smith, told her he made no such confession. She replied: "Yes he did. He said that Frankie made him do the last hit. In their words it was the final blow. Frankie made him do the final blow."
Amjad Malik QC, defending Parker, said Miss Parkinson, who hoped to marry Parker after meeting him in early December 2011, made up the confession with her mother and step-dad.
They saw it as an opportunity to make money from a £50,000 reward for information leading to the successful prosecution and conviction of the killers, he said. The trial continues.

Party the night away at annual Rave in the Nave

SPLASHING GOOD TIME:
More than 6,000 people attended this year's Aquafest celebrations, which were blessed with glorious sunshine and temperatures up to 30 degrees

Pictures by Keith Heppell

Summer fun at Aquafest

ROTARIANS might consider Aquafest's spirits were dampened but that certainly didn't seem to be the view of the thousands of revelers there.

More than 6,000 people donned their summer attire and turned out for the annual extravaganza in the baking heat.

A total of 12 rafts took to the river for the highlight of the event - the raft race - while people of all ages cheered them on from the riverbank.

But there was plenty more than just raft racing to entertain the crowds. The entire Riverside area was transformed into a summer fete style atmosphere with singing, dancing, craft stalls, charity stalls, family games, children's entertainment and displays.

Eric Grant, president of the Rotary Club of Ely, said: "As far as the event itself is concerned it was one of the best we've had. The weather was superb, the turnout was fantastic and those who attended certainly had a good time."

As ever, all proceeds from Aquafest will be shared among local charities.

Future looks bright for city restaurant

ELY'S much-criticised Maltings restaurant looks set to be transformed into an exclusive tapas and cocktail bar.

Ely News can reveal that La Raza, which runs a popular bar in Cambridge called 'Ta Bouche', wants to take over the restaurant in Waterside.

The plan is to turn the venue into a Ta Bouche and bosses have now applied for planning permission to erect new signage at the restaurant.

In a statement to the council, their agents said: "The intended new operator is an existing well-established restaurateur, La Raza, trading as Ta Bouche, already located in Cambridge since 2004.

"As part of the new tenancy a physical separation is being proposed together with the installation of some limited new corporate brand external signage to inform visitors and Ely residents alike that the new facility is in place."

The news is likely to be welcomed by residents, who have been calling for action over the day-to-day running of the restaurant for more than two years.

The 120-seat facility has been closed since last autumn and before that it was only open to the public for a few months of the year.

Locals insist the venue should be open throughout the whole year, and last year the district council decided to re-tender for a new operator to take over from the Compass Group.

But months later and still nothing has happened - sparking even more anger from locals.

Now the district council is to begin work to separate the restaurant area from the visitor's centre, which is still run by the Compass Group, and build a new storage area at the rear of the building in preparation for the arrival of the La Raza team.

Cllr Richard Hobbs, chairman of the district council's community and environment committee, said: "We are in advanced negotiations with a leading operator to run the restaurant at the Maltings.

"We hope to announce an agreement in the very near future which will ensure Ely's Riverside remains a fantastic place to visit."

A decision on La Raza's plans is expected within eight weeks. Visit www.eastcambs.gov.uk to have your say.

Horse rescued after getting stuck in ditch

A HORSE was rescued from a ditch after getting stuck while apparently in search of shade.

Fire crews were called to Prickwillow Road, just outside Ely, at 7.25am yesterday to help the grey horse which was stuck in a deep ditch at the edge of the field.

A vet was called to sedate the horse and firefighters, including specially trained animal rescue personnel, used short ropes to begin releasing the horse from the mud.

Because the horse was wedged tightly in the ditch, crews were assisted by a farmer using drag techniques to rescue the animal, which was left in the care of a vet after a two-hour struggle.

Russell Metcalfe, animal rescue specialist at Cambridgeshire Fire and Rescue Service, warned animal owners to make sure the area where animals graze is safe and free from hazards.

He said: "In hot weather, animals will often look for shady places or spots where they can cool down, like water-filled ditches, dykes and ponds. We're urging farmers, horse owners and other pet-owners to make sure ditches and places of open water are effectively fenced off to avoid any animals getting stuck."

He added: "This was a particularly difficult rescue because the horse was extremely wedged in."

Cambridgeshire Fire and Rescue will be running animal rescue demonstrations and offering advice to owners at an open day at Isle Veterinary Group, in West Fen Road, Ely, on Sunday which runs from 11am until 2pm.

FESTIVAL FUN: People of all ages had fun at Soham's annual Real Ale and Music Festival, which as ever, was raising money for local charities

Ales and bands galore at Soham festival!

QUIRKY beers and talented bands were the stars of the show in Soham. Hundreds of people turned out for the town's annual real ale and music festival on Friday and Saturday.

Held on the recreation ground and organised by Soham Staploe Rotary Club, there were dozens of real ales to slake revellers' thirst and a packed line-up of music from local bands.

The profits of the beer festival itself came to around £6,000 - all of which is being donated to the Liam Fairhurst Foundation.

There was also an auction hosted by local TV auctioneer David Palmer which raised funds for the Burwell Parish Nurses and Soham Village College.

Cash boost for North Ely scheme

MAMMOTH plans to build around 3,000 new homes in Ely have been given a major boost.

East Cambridgeshire District Council has been awarded nearly £400,000 by Central Government to help deliver the major North Ely development.

The money from the Department of Communities and Local Government is part of their Local Infrastructure Fund Scheme.

The scheme, which has been in the pipeline for years, will eventually see around 3,000 new homes, shops, places of worship, community facilities, a primary school and open space built on the northern edge of the city.

To date, two planning applications have been submitted - the Church Commissioners for England's 'Highflyer Farm' application, which involves building around 500 new homes on land east of the Princess of

JORDAN DAY

Wales Hospital, and Cambridge-based property company Endurance Estates Strategic Land's application to build approximately 1,200 new homes on land between Lynn Road and the A10.

Both applications are still going through the planning process.

Cllr Peter Moakes, chairman of the district council's development and transport committee, said: "This is a significant sum of money which will be used to accelerate the delivery of the scheme which will help create some 1,300 new jobs with a particular focus on business start-ups, innovation and entrepreneurship as well as 3,000 new homes. This announcement was well timed as we saw how the plans from the developers of North Ely have progressed.

There has been a lot of work put in to make sure that this new development meets the aspirations which we all have.

"The key is to get the right balance between new homes and the infrastructure which is needed to create a community.

"We were also pleased to see the innovation in design and the way the land is being used to ensure the development has that special 'Elyness'."

The next stage in the process is for the applicants to work up their planning applications, which could be considered by the council's planning committee by the end of this year.

New lease of life for former baptist chapel

A FORMER baptist chapel in Ely could be renovated into a home.

A planning application to change the use of the former Old Chapel in Butchers Row, off High Street Passage, has been submitted to East Cambridgeshire District Council.

The building, which was most recently used as a music shop, has stood empty for around two years and now Marcus Richardson, of Baker Street, London, has applied to change the use of the building from retail/education to residential.

The building was built in around 1855 and has had numerous uses over the years.

A decision on the new application is expected within eight weeks. Visit www.eastcamb.gov.uk to have your say.

Pharmacy re-location plans one step closer

CONTROVERSIAL plans to move Ely's Lloyds Pharmacy to St Mary's Surgery have now been submitted.

Bosses at Lloyds announced earlier this year that they were planning to re-locate from High Street to the surgery - a move which has sparked fears for the future of Ely's Post Office as Lloyds is contracted to manage the branch.

Only last month post office staff confessed that they were "worried" about the future but Lloyds says it is working to find an "alternative provider".

The plans to re-locate, which have now been submitted to East Cambs District Council, involve taking over a 44 square-metre area of the surgery. To view the proposals, visit www.eastcamb.gov.uk.

Children lose their locks to help those worse off

JORDAN DAY

YOUNG people across the Ely area have gone clipper and scissor mad to support those less fortunate than themselves.

Grace Kubecka, 11, and her friend Meghan Ambrose, 10, had their long locks chopped off on Friday.

The girls, who attend Strehtham Primary School and both live in the village, decided to have around eight inches cut off their hair and to donate it to the Little Princess Trust.

When Grace was just 2, she was diagnosed with Acute Lymphoblastic Leukaemia and after undergoing around two years of intensive treatment she is now a healthy, happy little girl.

Knowing only too well what it is like to lose her hair through illness, Grace decided she wanted to help other children who have lost theirs, as the trust provides real-hair wigs to boys and girls that have lost their hair through cancer treatment.

And being best friends, Meghan

CLOSE SHAVE: A group of staff and students at Ely College had their hair shaved to support Littleport cancer victim Brandon Fox-Teece was only too happy to support her.

With the support of their classmates, teachers, family and friends, they have also raised almost £1,000 through donations for the trust.

To make a donation, visit www.justgiving.com/Grace-MeghansLocks.

Meanwhile, at Millfield Primary School in Littleport, around half a dozen brave boys had their hair shaved off to raise money for children's cancer charity, CLIC

Sargent.

Their friend, Brandon Fox-Teece, 8, who is a pupil at Millfield, was diagnosed with a malignant rhabdomyosarcoma, a cancer which affects the muscles, earlier this year and is currently undergoing extensive treatment.

Since his diagnosis, Brandon's family, who live in the village, have been supported by CLIC Sargent and his friends, their parents and staff are trying to raise as much money for the charity as they can.

The head shave was carried out at the school's summer fair last Friday and raised hundreds of pounds for the charity.

Students and staff at Ely College also decided to brave the clippers to support Brandon.

In the space of an hour, students Joshua Garner and Max Weare had been cropped, together with teachers Jaz Turner and Sam Browning, with nearly £200 collected by other students.

Man in wheelchair hit by car

A MAN in a wheelchair suffered serious injuries when he was hit by a car in Littleport.

The accident happened following a confrontation between two small groups of men in Longfield Road at around 8pm on Thursday.

One group had been on foot and the others were in a blue Volvo.

The collision happened following the altercation as the car was being reversed in the street.

The 21-year-old victim suffered serious but not life-threatening injuries and was treated at Addenbrooke's Hospital in Cambridge.

Pc Rachel McKenzie, investigating, said: "The victim was in the group on foot and the collision happened after a fight had taken place between one person from each group."

"I believe members of the public would have seen the fracas taking place and I am particularly keen to know exactly how the collision took place."

"Anyone with information should not hesitate to get in touch."

Call Pc McKenzie on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Get ready for peashooting contest

IT'S the date that peashooters from across the globe have been waiting for.

This year's World Pea Shooting Championships in Witcham are being held on Saturday.

As ever, peashooters of all ages and abilities will descend on the village green for the annual contest, which is celebrating its 43rd anniversary.

A spokeswoman for the event said: "There's always a lot of excitement for the championships, not just in the village but from peashooters from across the world."

"Obviously a lot of the competitors take it really seriously but the championships are also a bit of fun and part of a great day out for the whole family."

"There will also be the usual children's games, face painting, raffles, stalls, barbecue, food and cream teas and a licenced bar in the village hall."

The championships are also the main fundraising event of the year for the upkeep of the village hall.

The fun kicks off at 12pm and entry is £2 for adults and £1 for children.

A first class 999 service
NO doubt many Ely News readers are concerned by the present publicity about the health service and care. Having been unexpectedly hospitalised in Addenbrooke's recently I can reassure readers who may be worried about our local services. Feeling ill I was advised by the emergency doctor line to call 999. Paramedics arrived within minutes, made tests, wired me up and requested an ambulance which arrived in minutes. More tests and off to Addenbrooke's. Arriving in casualty I was seen immediately by a doctor and his student, who were very supportive and reassuring. After further tests and questions I was taken to a ward. A few days of investigation and more tests and treatment followed. The medical staff at all levels were efficient, caring and readily available. After an interview and explanations with the cardiac team I was eventually sent home with various drugs and instructions. My experience and treatment at Addenbrooke's could not have been better. The food was as good as I have paid for in restaurants. A choice of hot drinks arrived frequently throughout the day. Everything was excellent, if basic. I noticed that patients who needed assistance to eat/drink were always helped by staff. Of course, I am pleased to be home, but thanks to all who tended me.
Bill Pickess

And this is progress?
I WROTE last week concerning the wheelie bins and how I thought they would be an eyesore and wouldn't encourage recycling, but now I'm really spitting tacks! I have just finished a conversation with the council in which I was asking how I would manage with one green waste bin. I am a green gardener with a large garden, conservatory full of plants and a veggie patch, and animals whoes wood chip bedding all goes in the brown bags if I run out of space in my own compost bins. I also recycle all household waste that is allowed. On most recycling days there is more than the five bags that a wheelie bin would hold, and on some weeks there would be as many as 15 brown sacks. The councils answer ? Anything more than the one bin full of waste will have to go into black bags for landfill. Does this make sense to anyone, because it sure doesn't to me.
Lin Bennett

They're on another planet
LIKE the majority of readers I can't understand the crazy decision to provide us all with ugly wheelie bins at a cost of £5 million when the present system seems to work very well. These bins would look an eyesore in most streets especially where I live and I forecast that the majority of residents will turn them down. The ECDC council members have now proved that they really come from the planet Thar (where everyone has pointed ears and don't know what they're doing) and are obviously in an induced coma when making their idiotic decisions. They will not, of course be at all worried because it's not their five million quid, it's OURS ! The fact that the bins will take longer to empty due to the mechanics of the operation and also have to be returned to the properties concerned does not seem to have dawned on these aliens. If the bins are foisted on me I will put them in the garden, turn then on their side and open a shelter for cats and dogs (except from Thar).

The Muscovy Duck

With Elvis-like quiff and a flat-footed gait, He's victim to fashions ten years out of date. Face red and embarrassed, he sits down to wait For waterproof feathers to come back in style. He sticks out a mile, just like a sore thumb. An unwanted squatter, his parties are shunned. To be a pariah is not that much fun; The strangest of strangers on this marshland isle.

A born entertainer, he's messy and loud; He'd be right at home on a festival stage. His rock-star behaviour will draw in the crowds, A waddling busker, with breadcrumbs his wage. A local celeb, his neighbours are stuck With this charming annoyance: the Muscovy Duck.

by Leanne Moden

background information might be useful. Some years ago I visited a number of Parish Councils and gave a presentation on behalf of ECDC with the then Councillor Brian Ashton, who presented the unarguable economic advantages of alternate week collections and I spoke on the environmental imperative. This occurred during the years of no political control at the council, elections were held and the Conservatives went to the electorate with a promise to save the black bag, warning that the Liberal democrats would force wheeled bins onto residents. Recycling rates in East Cambs are now said to be at 34%, all other districts in the county are at or approaching 60%. All other areas use bin systems collected alternately, recycling one week residual waste the next. The combination of residents wanting to get rid of the maximum volumes of waste every week encourages recycling and sorting and rigid containers provide the means. The increased recycling rates and more efficient collection methods provide cash incentives that go some way to offset the visual blight of wheeled bins. The Coalition government in its wisdom made grants available to authorities that maintain weekly residual waste collections, a knowing subsidy of a willfully inefficient political choice in a time of austerity. East Cambs officers have used this available cash to drag the council towards the recycling rates attained by our neighbours, for which they should be congratulated. The cynical manipulation of the electorate by our political masters at national and local levels deserves less applause. Taxpayer pounds are being spent introducing a hybrid bag and bin system that exists nowhere else, that lacks the efficiencies of a true alternate week system, that will probably not reach the 60% recycling enjoyed elsewhere and will bring the blight of bins to all communities. Worse in terms of confidence in the motives of local politicians is the open discussion within the council about the ability that the introduction of bins now will have on the introduction of a third bin and alternate week system in due course. Eight years of shameful recycling rates and political manipulation are nearly at an end and within a few more years we shall be where Fenland, South Cambs, Hunts and Cambridge City have been for ages. As a local council member I have to engage in the development of the new system, I shall do all I can on behalf of local residents to make the transition as painless as possible, I am ready to assist all in Haddenham ward.

They're binning good food
SOME important points that need to be made about Ely here. In each local supermarket we have a large basket for the foodbanks where people can buy something for those deprived of any income, all very well but do you realise these supermarkets throw out huge quantities of food each day ? Why should they send skip fulls of unsold food to landfill while people are starving? The quarterly figures for supermarket profits were astronomical, several were given tax exempt status by contributing to set up Tony Blair/Peter Mandelsons New Labour, it's time they did pay tax and time they GAVE the food rather than landfill it. I would like to see this food as it approached its sell by date being given to the Cathedral where volunteers could check people's need and give it out accordingly through the church as it was centuries ago. The teachers union the NUT are worried many children are starting school each day without a breakfast, some also without an evening meal. The British Medical Journal has been aware of this for some time. Our independent shops are suffering with people spending their money in the supermarkets.

Charity football match in memory of our friend Jack

FRIENDS of teenage crash victim Jack Ure are organising a charity football match in his memory.

A team of some of Jack's closest friends will be battling it out against teachers from Ely College to raise funds for emergency medical charity, Magpas.

18-year-old Jack, a student at Ely Sixth-Form College, was killed in a horrific three-vehicle crash at the bridge in Sandhill, Littleport, on June 20.

Jack, who lived with his parents, Tony and Emma, and sister, Lucy, in Pymoor, had finished his final A-level exam just hours before the accident happened.

The memorial match is being held at Ely City Football Club on Thursday, July 18 and the main organiser is one of Jack's best friends, Courtney Pettifor.

AMAZING MATE: Jack Ure

Courtney, who attends Ely College Sixth-Form, said: "We're holding the football match not only in memory of Jack, who loved football, but also to raise money for Magpas.

"Magpas were first on the scene at the accident. They also treated two of Jack's friends who were in his car when the accident happened.

"Jack was an amazing mate for the 10 unforgettable years that I knew him.

"He was such a lovely lad and I was privileged to play football with him. I will never forget my first day at Downham Feoffees Primary School when he came up to me and said 'I'll be your best friend' - that just sums him up really.

"He was loved by everyone and that will always remain the case."

The match kicks off at 4pm. There will also be a cake stall and raffles on the day.

Anybody who would like to donate financially or donate raffle prizes or cakes should email cjpettifor@yahoo.com.

Primary school plans for North Ely are approved

A NEW primary school will be built in the north of Ely, council chiefs have decided.

Cambridgeshire County Council's cabinet agreed on Tuesday to build a new primary school on land north of Ely's Princess of Wales Hospital where thousands of new homes will soon be built.

The plan is to build the school temporarily on the site and to have the facilities up and running by next September.

A report put before cabinet said: "The site is in the right place to meet the existing need for school places. The children attending will also be able to start building a sense of place from day one."

There were two other options presented to cabinet. One was to use spare classrooms at Ely St Mary's School and the other was to site the facilities temporarily in the grounds of Ely College.

Members followed the recommendation and agreed to get the school up and running in the north of the city. The plan is to move into permanent accommodation there in 2015.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Tim Law feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Cambridge, Ely, Saffron Walden, Haverhill, Royston & Newmarket areas and Tim is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. "The truth is that it's not just the person who does the job that is appreciated. It's the fact that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Tim a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

If you can't stand the music, go elsewhere!

JORDAN DAY

RESIDENTS who complained about the Mayor of Ely's live entertainment programme being too disruptive have been described as "pathetic".

Cllr Elaine Griffin-Singh was forced to scale back her 'Summer Saturdays Programme' in the city last month following a lot of complaints about noise.

She launched the programme of live entertainment when she took over as Ely's mayor in May and every Saturday night local people were able to enjoy live music, dancing and acting on the city's Market Place.

The scheme was due to run until September 7 but Elaine decided to cut the line-up back to just three more performances, with the remaining two scheduled to take place on August 17 and September 7.

Locals say they are disappointed and that those who complained about the entertainment should "move to somewhere more remote" than the city centre.

Jenny Parker, of Prickwillow Road, Ely, said: "My husband and I went to quite a few of the Summer Saturdays events and they were great.

"I think it's extremely sad that the mayor went out of her way to try and inject a bit of life into the city and that people complained. "It's pathetic. You can't live in a city or town centre and expect the quiet life. If that's what you want then move to somewhere more remote."

Ruth Morgan, of Ely's St

MAYOR: Cllr Elaine Griffin-Singh

Mary's Street, said: "I am very disappointed that the Saturday Market Square concerts have been cut back.

"They were an excellent idea and what a wonderful thing for residents to have a free concert every week and to make use of a sadly dead area in the evening.

"If one chooses to live in the town centre one cannot expect to be isolated from noise and activity. The music from the Hereward pub is much louder and lasts for much longer.

"Cllr Griffin-Singh, you are to be congratulated in wanting to enliven the town centre."

Speaking at the time, Elaine said she was disappointed but that she was "trying to look at the positives and not the negatives". She said: "Maybe I was being a bit overly enthusiastic by making it a weekly thing, I don't know.

"I can understand where they were coming from and I tried moving the stage around but it still caused issues.

"There's no point trying to make around 100 people happy when 50 odd people are unhappy."

GEMS GALORE: Juliet Browne, owner of Spoilt Rotten Beads in Haddenham, holding some of the gems which have been ordered for the costumes in the new Exodus film which is being released next December.

Spoilt Rotten beads gets another brush with fame

IT'S not every day local businesses get the chance to play a part in a huge blockbuster. But at Spoilt Rotten Beads, in Haddenham, staff are getting quite used to brushing with fame.

The business was recently asked to supply thousands of Swarovski crystals to a professional footballer who wanted to use them to bling up a sofa.

And the firm has just supplied lots of precious gem stones to the costume department at the prestigious Pinewood Studios.

The stones are being used for costumes worn by stars in Ridley Scott's huge upcoming blockbuster, Exodus, due for release in December.

Juliet Browne, owner of Spoilt Rotten Beads, said: "Obviously it was a really exciting call but we do get calls like it quite often now.

"They did order lots of beautiful gems but the order wasn't huge and they didn't spend a fortune."

Croylands decision postponed over fears

A DECISION on controversial plans to turn Croylands into retirement flats has been put off for now.

East Cambridgeshire District Council's planning committee was expected to make a decision on proposals to turn the former vicarage in Cambridge Road, Ely, into flats for the elderly last Wednesday.

But the committee voted to defer a decision until a later date for various planning concerns to be addressed.

A council spokesman said:

"The decision was deferred to enable planning officers to speak to the developers about numerous concerns.

"Those concerns include the size of the proposed scheme, its impact on topography and biodiversity and the affordable housing element of the proposals."

Developers McCarthy and Stone want to turn the building into retirement flats – proposals which have proved to be one of the most contentious ever put before the council. The spokesman said: "The plans will be brought back before the committee at a later date."

Dealer swallows 139 drug wraps

JORDAN DAY

A DRUG dealer who swallowed more than 100 wraps of heroin and crack cocaine in a bid to hide them from police has been jailed.

Thaimloll Conteh, 25, travelled from London to Ely with a total of 139 packages of Class A drugs but was caught out by on-patrol officers.

Police stopped him in Ely's Market Street on April 29 after spotting him acting suspiciously. They also saw that he was in the company of a known drug dealer.

Conteh, of Cropley Street, London, was stopped and gave officers a false name. He was then searched and several mobile phones, plus £300 in cash, were seized.

He could also not explain why he was in Ely. Conteh was arrested and taken in for questioning. He was strip-searched but no drugs were found, however, still suspicious, police decided to X-ray him. The X-ray revealed he had a large number of packages in his stomach.

Conteh was admitted to

JAILED: Thaimloll Conteh, 25, came to Ely with a total of 139 wraps of Class A drugs

Addenbrooke's Hospital and eventually - after almost a week of waiting - officers recovered the 139 packages of drugs.

He pleaded guilty to possessing heroin and crack cocaine with intent to supply and was jailed for four-and-a-half years at Peterborough Crown Court. The drugs had a street value of between £1,730 and £2,780.

DI Donna Wass said: "Conteh is a known drug dealer and arrived in Ely for the sole purpose of dealing drugs. He lied to officers but eventually admitted to hiding the drugs.

"Conteh must have thought Ely would be a safe place for him to deal, but we will not tolerate the use and supply of drugs in Ely."

Around two years ago, there was an issue with London-based drug dealers coming to Ely to sell their narcotics. At the time, police said the city's good transport links and rural location were making it a hot spot for dealers and as a result, a special crackdown was launched.

Insp Paul Ormerod, safer neighbourhood manager in Ely, said: "There were certainly some issues around two years ago. They were trying to take over the drugs market in this area."

"Earlier this year, we were getting reports that some of those dealers could be coming back to the area but it's cases like this that prove two things - one that these people stand out to both police and locals and two that we will not tolerate it."

"We're pleased with the sentence Conteh received."

A STUDENT is desperately seeking funding to help fulfil her dreams of studying at Cambridge University.

Lauren Tuohy, 22, recently graduated from Liverpool John Moores University with a first in her Psychology degree and has now been accepted to study an Mphil in Social and Developmental Psychology in Cambridge.

Lauren, who has five siblings, said: "I never thought for one minute I'd be offered a place at one of the most outstanding universities in the world but I have and it's an opportunity I can't let pass me by."

"I'm desperate for funding and have applied to so many organisations but with no success."

"Unfortunately being a student I haven't got any savings and my parents can't afford the fees either."

"I really want to work with children and studying this Masters would really help me get there."

"My ultimate dream is to have my own practice and who knows, one day that could happen."

£5k for helpful scheme

A SCHEME which supports the start-up or enhancement of rural enterprises in Cambridgeshire and the Fens has scooped £5,000.

East Cambridgeshire District Council has awarded the Fen Adventurers Rural Development Programme the bumper grant.

The programme was set up in 2009 and since then it has awarded a total of £695,746 to businesses in East Cambs alone, creating 46 new jobs.

The beneficiaries have ranged from farmers to tourism projects, as well as improvements to footpaths and bridleways.

With the programme in transition ahead of receiving further EU funding in potentially 2015, the scheme needed support from all its partners in 2013/14 and the district council has agreed to hand out its share.

The programme is administered by Littleport-based charity, Cambs ACRE. Visit www.cambsacre.org.uk for more information.

Use Lifetime Trusts to Save Inheritance Tax

Neil Groom specialises in advising trusts & personal tax clients at Whiting & Partners

With the government confirming in the last Budget that the current inheritance tax nil rate band of £325,000 will be frozen until 2018, more and more people will find the taxman taking a sizeable slice of their estate on death.

Making gifts during your lifetime is one solution – you can gift assets of up to the value of the nil rate band every seven years. For many though, the thought of passing large sums of cash or valuable assets to their children at an early age may start alarm bells ringing.

Lifetime trusts solve this problem, by removing these assets from your estate, whilst enabling you to retain control over how the assets and income arising are handled. As trustee, you can safeguard the assets from gold-diggers or wayward offspring, whilst being able to provide income and or capital to the beneficiaries as and when required.

Trusts themselves are subject to inheritance tax every ten years, and also when capital is paid out. The charge every 10 years works out at a maximum of 6%, and with each trust retaining its nil rate band exemption, the savings compared with the 40% charge on death can be substantial.

There are clear incentives to beginning inheritance tax planning as early as possible – leaving it too late may mean leaving less to your loved ones.

Students pitch to the 'dragons'

YOUNG entrepreneurs braved the heat of the Dragon's Den during King's Ely International's own version of the popular TV programme.

Teams of students were tasked with developing a new product concept, writing a business plan, constructing a prototype and filming an advertisement for their product.

They then pitched their ideas to a panel of judges, who grilled each team to test their knowledge in areas such as marketing, research and financial planning.

The winning product was a portable washer-dryer, aimed at helping young boarders with their washing, which was devised by students Run Li, Emily Shu and Christina Dong.

"The project was introduced to give our GCSE Business Studies students the opportunity to be creative and apply business theories to practical situations," said Business Studies teacher, Sarah Burt.

INDEPENDENTS: Abigail Cornwell and Catherine Fryer represented Wood fen Lodge

Celebrating our independents

OWNERS of independent businesses descended on Ely to promote themselves. To celebrate national 'Independents' Day', an outdoor business showcase and networking event was held on the Market Place on Wednesday.

Dozens of stalls were set up to enable local businesses to showcase themselves and promote what a variety of independent businesses the Ely area has.

The event was organised by the Ely Chamber of Commerce, Ely Traders' Association and East Cambridgeshire District Council.

District Cllr Tom Kerby said: "The aim of Independents' Day is to celebrate all that is good about local, independent businesses and our showcase event certainly did that."

AN independent shoe shop in Ely has closed its doors – but the business is still being run online.

Hazel Morrison closed The Shoe Tree, in Market Street, last week after around six years in the city.

She said she made the decision to close following "numerous issues" over the last few years.

She said: "The last few years haven't been good at all really."

"I've had a lot of trouble with drains and since the start of this year my stockroom has been flooded 12 times."

"It's because the drains in that area of Ely simply cannot cope with all the food outlets there are and my shop suffers as a result."

"The shop itself is damp and mouldy and despite that my business rates were continuing to go up."

"Everything was really

starting to make me pretty ill and it's just not worth it."

"Instead of renewing my lease I decided to leave and am now trading solely online."

"To be honest the online side of the business was continuing to grow and it seems to be getting busier and busier so it's a decision I'm pleased I made."

"Sadly, even though the odd few do try their hardest not to, the majority of people do tend to shop online these days and sometimes we have to change a few things to cater for that demand."

"I don't want people to walk past the shop in Market Street and think that I've gone altogether."

Hazel offers free shipping on all UK orders.

New vet surgery in Littleport

A NEW veterinary practice has opened in Littleport.

Johnson and Scott Vets, a partnership led by local vets Cathy Scott and Jo Johnson, only opened a surgery in Witchford three months ago but has now launched a second practice in the area by opening in Lynn Road, Littleport, next to the train station.

Cathy said: "We have been absolutely delighted by the positive reaction to the opening of the surgery at Witchford. We have attracted caring and dedicated pet owners and met some wonderful pets."

"It came to our attention early on that our style of traditional, client-centred, common sense veterinary care would be embraced by similar owners across the local area, so we are making it more accessible to those north of Ely by opening a branch surgery in Littleport."

The new surgery is open from 3pm-5pm on Mondays and Wednesdays, 9.30am-11.30am on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays and from 8.30am-11.30am on Saturdays.

Fun and games for charity

THE East Anglian Air Ambulance (EAAA) is more than £11,000 better off thanks to King's Ely Junior School.

Pupils, their families and staff raised over £2,600 for the EAAA at the school's charity action garden party.

Despite the wind and rain, the party carried on regardless and some stalls were relocated indoors.

Highlights on the day included the ever-popular 'sponge the teacher', 'name that gnome' and wheelbarrow racing, to name just a few.

"The count so far is £2,670, but there is still more coming in," said organiser Sarah Green, art co-ordinator at King's Ely Junior.

"Added to the approximate £8,500 that we have already raised throughout the year, this gives us a total of over £11,000, which is a fantastic amount."

Richard Whymark, head of King's Ely Junior, said: "The event was a triumph for the students' Charity Action Committee.

"We even enjoyed the traditional garden party downpours – running inside to enjoy the stalls being run by the children, before rushing back outside to see the tug of war competition final. It was a wonderful way to show our support for this vital local organisation."

CHURCH FUNDS: St George's Church is almost £300 better off thanks to a musical marathon held there on June 29. A total of £273 was raised.

Good news for all in Haddenham

RESIDENTS in the Haddenham area have two good reasons to celebrate.

Not only has the future of the village library been secured after the parish council stepped in to take over the lease, but a new Citizens Advice Bureau (CAB) has also opened in the village.

The lease of the library was owned by Cambridgeshire County Council but expired earlier this year, putting the future of the much-used facility at risk.

But parish councillors have voted to take over the lease, ensuring that the facility, based at the Arkenstall Centre, can remain open.

The library is staffed and run by volunteers from the Friends of Haddenham Library.

Parish Cllr Gareth Wilson said: "This ensures that the library will continue in Haddenham. It is a highly successful library and the parish council will continue to support it."

As far as the CAB service in the village is concerned, it will enable residents to get access to a range of services without them having to travel into Ely - also reducing the burden on Ely's CAB.

Haddenham Methodist Church will be holding drop-in sessions from 10.15am-12.30pm every Wednesday.

The church has agreed to run the service after the Ely CAB branch leafleted villages asking for local churches to consider setting up satellite services in the current times of hardship.

A grant from waste and recycling firm AmeyCespa has kick-started the project.

The scheme currently has five volunteers and is seeking more people to get involved. To express interest or for more information, email haddenham.methodists@gmail.com.

Ely College pupils inspired by talk

DOUBLE-leg amputee Duncan Slater, who lost both legs in Afghanistan, gave an inspiring speech to students at Ely College.

Having served in the RAF for more than a decade, Duncan was in Afghanistan in July 2009 when an improvised explosive device blew up under his vehicle.

The only unbroken part of his body was his right arm. After a year of rehabilitation, both his legs had to be amputated.

Addressing students at the college's annual presentation evening, he said: "When my doctor told me that I would probably never run again, I was determined to prove him wrong.

"I want to show you that it's possible to overcome anything, and to achieve anything, if you set your mind to it and are determined enough."

Duncan handed out awards to students and also spoke about his preparation for Walking with the Wounded's South Pole Allied Challenge 2013.

Go wildlife crazy at Wicken Fen

NATURE lovers will be in their element at Wicken Fen Nature Reserve.

A 24-hour BioBlitz - an intense period of biological surveying to record all living species within a designated area - is being held at the reserve, and residents of all ages are invited to take part.

The wildlife marathon starts at 4pm on Friday (July 12) and finishes at 4pm on Saturday (July 13), when the final score will be announced.

"It doesn't matter if you're an expert or a complete wildlife novice, the BioBlitz has something for everyone to take part in," said the reserve's senior ranger, Lois Baker.

"It would be great if we could record a new species at Wicken Fen and hopefully beat last year's total of 917 species.

"Highlights of last year's BioBlitz included watching 237 Soprano Pipistrelle bats leave their roost at sunset, a rare Reed Leopard moth caught in a moth trap, the identification of 70 different species of Lichen and sightings of otters."

Just some of the activities in the 24-hour period include mammal talks, bird walks, moth trapping, pond dipping and boat trips.

The events are free, although normal admission to the reserve applies. Call (01353) 720274, email wickenfen@nationaltrust.org.uk or search 'WickenFenNT' on Facebook for regular updates on the BioBlitz.

PEOPLE of all ages discovered the enjoyment of bell ringing when St Mary's Church in Ely held an open day.

Quartet cycle 300 miles for cancer funds

FOUR cyclists have used their pedal power to raise more than £5,000 for Cancer Research UK.

Martin Frohock, 30, from Sutton, Mark Watson, 30, from Newmarket, Tim Bygrave, 29, from Waterbeach, and Tony Rose, 45, from near Bury St Edmunds, donned their cycle helmets and pedalled from Cambridge to Paris, completely unaided.

They set off from Cancer Research UK's Cambridge Institute, which until recently they all used to work at, and cycled the 300 miles to the Eiffel Tower, completing the mammoth challenge in just three days. They have raised almost £5,500.

Mark said: "We have all seen first hand what fundraising goes towards and how it makes a difference. The sponsorship that we raise will help to support the research into this horrific disease and will help to prevent if not beat cancer."

£30k boost for land trust

JORDAN DAY

A TRUST set up to build more affordable homes and community facilities in two villages has scooped £30,000.

East Cambridgeshire District Council has agreed to loan the sum to the Stretham and Wilburton Community Land Trust (CLT).

The decision was made just days after the innovative trust was praised in Parliament.

During Community and Local Government questions, Housing Minister Mark Prisk said: "East Cambridgeshire District Council - in their current local plan review - have developed a new planning policy to facilitate community-led development.

"The new policy will permit community-based organisations, including CLTs, to bring forward a mixed tenure development proposal on an exception site provided it meets key planning criteria. The Local Plan will be submitted for examination by the Planning Inspectorate in August 2013."

As previously reported, the council is using CLTs to meet the local needs for affordable and market housing and bosses aim to help deliver two new CLTs by the end of this year.

The Stretham and Wilburton CLT is expected to submit major plans soon for a scheme in Stretham which will include a new doctor's surgery, business units and new affordable homes that will be prioritised for local people from either village.

Cllr Charles Roberts, the council's deputy leader, said: "CLTs are a great way of providing new homes to our residents while giving local people a far greater say how developments can benefit the whole community."

"The Stretham and Wilburton CLT is an excellent example of how this process can work as they involved over 250 people in the process to develop their plans."

'We do not want another takeaway'

TWO brothers' hopes of turning a former butchers shop into a delicatessen are winning the support of locals.

But villagers insist the plans should not be approved unless the 'hot food takeaway' element of the proposals is ditched.

Local fish and chip shop owners, Mark and Peter Petrou, want to turn the former Hills, Harnwell and Rutterford butchers shop in High Street, Sutton, into a delicatessen and cafe with facilities to cook and sell hot food.

The plans have gone down well with villagers as the premises have been the subject of two failed planning applications by previous owners who sought to turn it into a takeaway.

But there is concern over the 'hot food takeaway' element of the planning application and residents are calling for planners to make it a condition that it is axed.

Lucy Baker, of Vermuyden Gardens, Sutton, said: "I fully support the use of the old butchers shop both for retail of fresh food as a delicatessen and also the proposed use as a small cafe.

"I am however very concerned about any change of use to provide a takeaway. We already have two takeaways in the High Street and more competition could damage them. The takeaways cause a lot of problems with parking and create unpleasant smells, as well as litter."

Patricia Wood, of Hillside, said: "I support the use of the old butchers shop as a delicatessen but I am very concerned about any change of use to provide a takeaway. We already have two takeaways – we not need a third.

"They take up a lot of parking on the High Street and create noise and smells, as well as litter. Sutton used to have many shops but now this is the last vacant premises which has an existing retail use. It would be good to keep it."

The plans were submitted in April following numerous consultations with locals.

The final decision lies with the district council. Visit www.east-cambs.gov.uk to have your say.

Former sunday school hall sold for £91,000

THE former Sunday School Hall in Little Downham has sold for over £90,000.

The hall, in Main Street, was sold by Cheffins at auction. There was a guide price of £50,000 – £60,000 but it ended up fetching £91,000. A spokesman for Cheffins said: "There was a huge amount of interest in the hall on the day and it ended up doing really well.

"The completion of the sale hasn't gone through yet so we can't say what the future holds for the hall but it certainly looks like it'll be exciting."

The property currently has Class D1 use, which covers everything from clinics to creches and galleries to exhibition halls.

the GUIDE Summer of the Bard

"CAN one desire too much of a good thing?" Nope, we're thinking not, and it looks like the Cambridge Shakespeare Festival (CSF) has a similar idea.

Throughout July and August CSF is performing some of the greatest works of the Bard in some of the most secretive and exclusive University College gardens in the city.

Whether farce, romance or tragedy takes your fancy (or you'd just like to picnic and take a sneaky look at the greenery), you can settle down for a theatrical evening as the sun folds away. Doesn't it sound romantic? The actors will be trussed up in full period costume and performing with live Elizabethan music to boot.

There are eight plays to choose from (or you can get a season ticket and go along to every single one), and they'll be performed in the gardens of Robinson, Trinity, Downing, King's, St John's and Homerton College.

Until Saturday, July 27 you'll be able to see the farcical The Comedy of Errors bubbling with slapstick and mishaps at Robinson College; the witty Much Ado About Nothing in which Beatrice and Benedick battle their affections at St John's; the betrayal-ridden Cymbeline shot through with troubles of the heart at Downing; and of course, Romeo & Juliet, the greatest love story ever written – fact – at King's.

From Monday, July 29 –

Saturday, August 17, Homerton College gardens will overflow with the magical mysticism of fairy tale A Midsummer Night's Dream, while the murderous and power-hungry Richard III will lose his temper at St John's College, and Hamlet will see the ghost of his father at Trinity College.

From Monday, July 29 – Saturday, August 24 the final production, whimsical romantic comedy The Two Gentlemen of Verona, will play out at Robinson College.

Do not miss out – regardless of the weather.

Skilz and Pain at Pavilion

BEAT box legend Skilly Skilz and hit rapper Xidus Pain are coming to Soham on Wednesday, July 17.

As part of Arts Development East Cambridgeshire's 'Make it Happen' project, funded by Art Council England, a group of young people have been learning the skills to put on their own event.

On Wednesday they will be presenting 'Sounds, Rapped Up and Delivered' with Xidus Pain, right, and Skilly Skilz at Soham Pavilion, in Fountain Lane.

Project manager Zoe Davidson said: "We're very lucky to welcome Skilly Skilz and Xidus Pain to Soham."

"Skilly is ranked one of the top 16 beat boxers in the UK and Xidus Pain has been mentored by hip-hop legends Sugar Hill Gang and Melle Mel.

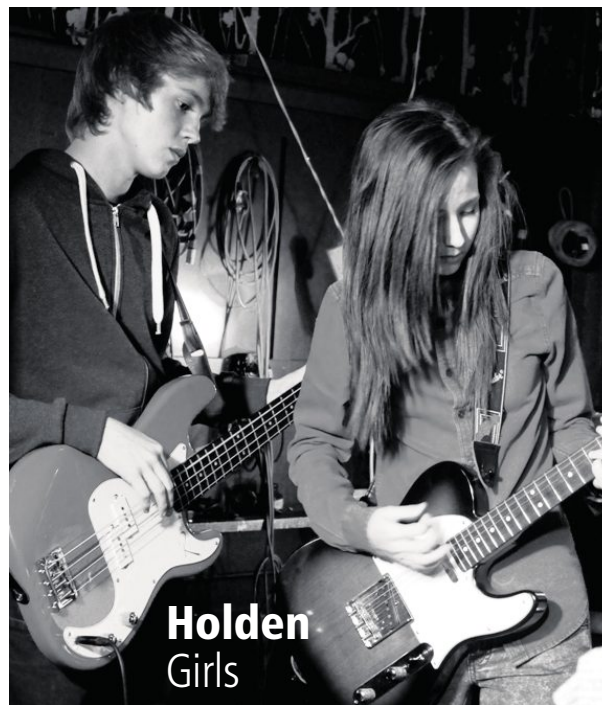

"The group have worked so hard to put this event on, so please come along and support them. It will be a unique journey through vocal sound."

"Sit back and enjoy raps and beat box delivered at the highest quality. The show includes a question-and-answer session, and the chance to learn the techniques used."

The gig kicks off at 7pm. Tickets are £3 in advance or £4 on the door.

Holden Girls

UP-and-coming Ely band Holden Girls are performing in the city tomorrow (Friday).

The popular quintet, who, after a few line-up changes, have settled on Connor Browne, Luke Cowan, Owen Kennedy, Alex Brown and George Fletcher, will be delighting the crowd at St Peter's Church, in Broad Street.

Their distinctive sound draws on anything from Low to Mogwai, Talk Talk and Cocteau Twins, with Browne's vocals compared to Ian Curtis.

This year sees the release of their self-titled debut EP produced and recorded by Forest's front man, Henry Barraclough.

They will be supported by popular Cambridge bands Fuzzy Lights, Hollow Mountain and Thriller 2.0. The gig kicks off at 7pm; tickets are £5 on the door.

Closer to home

YOUNG people from across the Ely area will be battling it out in a talent competition on Saturday.

The city's Garage Youth Theatre, based at the Lighthouse Centre in Lynn Road, Ely, is holding its G Factor 2013 contest.

Young people will be performing talent acts including singing, dancing and drama.

This year's competition is organised by last year's winner, Freya Perry, and will be judged by Kat Loaker of Kaptiv8 singing, local singer/songwriter Azubike, Tanya Piggott and Richard Bayliss.

Doors open at 6.30pm. Tickets are available on the door priced at £3 for adults and £1 for children.

Call Jenny Loaker on 07846 294453 for more information.

• Live music fans should head to Littleport Leisure Centre tomorrow (Friday).

ADeC is taking part in the national 'Our Big Gig' scheme by holding an outdoor live music festival at the centre.

The line-up includes 'The State Line' fresh from their appearance at Cambridge Big Weekend, professional rapper 'CIRE', and 'The Podium' who were one of the stars of the recent Mayor's Party in Park in Ely.

The fun kicks off at 5pm and is running until 10pm. It is free and is suitable for people of all ages.

film of the week

MONSTERS UNIVERSITY
certificate U, 1h50m

UNDER the guidance of chief creative officer John Lasseter, Pixar Studios has reigned supreme for 18 years as masters of the computer-animated fable.

Toy Story, Finding Nemo and The Incredibles affirmed animation as a serious art form capable of exceeding live action blockbusters at the box office while Up and Toy Story 3 were both nominated as Best Picture and Best Animated Feature at successive Academy Awards.

In recent years Pixar has lacked some of its trademark innovation, returning to past glories for inspiration including a lack lustre sequel to Cars and the forthcoming Finding Dory.

Monsters University continues that trend, conjuring a back story to the enduring friendship of Mike Wazowski (voiced by Billy Crystal) and James P Sullivan - aka Sulley (voiced by John Goodman) - from Monsters, Inc.

In this colourful and fast-paced prequel, director Dan Scanlon harks back to Mike's childhood when the six-year-old ignites his desire to become a scarer.

Many years later, Mike excitedly heads off to university to realise his dream. There he befriends shy roommate Randall 'Randy' Boggs (Steve Buscemi) and impresses his teachers by regurgitating facts from textbooks.

However, classmate Sulley gets all of the attention and is courted by the Roar Omega Roar fraternity and its dashing president, Johnny Worthington (Nathan Fillion). Eventually, Mike snaps and declares war on Sulley. The rivals' fates rest on an end-of-term exam, which must be passed or Dean Hardscrabble (Helen Mirren) will expel them from the course.

Unperturbed, he joins forces with the misfits from Oozma Kappa fraternity - tentacled mature student Don (Joel Murray), lovably naive Scott Squibbles (Peter Sohn), conjoined siblings Terri (Sean Hayes) and Terry (Dave Foley) and purple-striped extrovert Art (Charlie Day) - to prove that every underdog has his day.

Monsters University boasts the same appealing cocktail of comedy, action and touching friendship as its predecessor, including some lively supporting performances. Dialogue zings and Crystal and Goodman ease back into their roles as if they were putting on a favourite pair of old slippers.

Like previous Pixar releases, the main feature is preceded by a short. In this instance, it's The Blue Umbrella, a delightful six-minute love story which recounts the first flushes of romance between blue and red umbrellas on a rain-lashed city street.

Counting on our butterflies

SHE'S banged the drum for the Gurkhas, she's the ambassador for an initiative to combat climate change and waste – but most recently, actress and keen gardener Joanna Lumley has turned her attentions to the plight of the humble butterfly.

Backing this year's Big Butterfly Count, the world's biggest survey of butterflies organised by Butterfly Conservation and Marks & Spencer, Lumley explains: "I've been fascinated by butterflies ever since being brought up in the Far East where they were, like many things there, huge, bright and extraordinary.

"The great heartbreak is to see how few there are today. Looking out on my garden now, and walking up and down it as I do every day, I'm not seeing any. "This huge, scientific survey is actually counting the effect of mankind upon the natural world." The public is being asked to take 15 minutes to participate in the count, which runs from July 20 to August 11 (prime time for butterfly activity), to help identify trends in species that will aid us in planning how to protect butterflies from extinction, as well as understanding the effect of climate change on wildlife. Butterflies react very quickly to change in their environment which makes them excellent biodiversity indicators. Butterfly declines are an early warning for other wildlife losses. Almost three-quarters of UK butterfly species have decreased in population during the last decade, while the number of UK's larger moths has crashed in the past 40 years, according to a recent reports by a group of leading conservation organisations. "The predictions are that numbers will be down again this year," says Butterfly Conservation surveys manager Richard Fox. "As butterflies had such a bad year last year because of the wet weather, it's likely that fewer offspring will emerge. "The Small Tortoiseshell has had eight bad years in a row and has declined by 74% since 1976. The weather last year would have been a major contributing factor but there are other things going on. They need suitable habitats to thrive." This year's cold spring should not have affected numbers because cold snaps tend to happen when butterflies are dormant, so the insects simply come out later, he explains. Lumley's own London garden, with its wild area of meadow planting at the end, should be a haven for butterflies, but she has seen few this year. "That's quite a good area for butterflies, but I've maybe seen three this year," she explains. She's nailed a moth overwintering box, featuring a nectar column, onto her pear tree, but so far it remains empty. "Like the bees, suddenly there's been something catastrophic happening. Something we are doing is wrong. I suspect we have to blame it on our methods of farming, but I think it's also down to our way of living in our urban environment, getting rid of gardens and putting down decking, paving stones and tarmac, treating our vehicles as more important than our creatures." Lumley, who is also the M&S sustainability champion, has planted many butterfly-friendly species in her garden. "I love nettles, as do butterflies. We've got a tiny cottage in Scotland, on a wild hillside, and we have a meadow garden there. It's important not to be too tidy in your garden, because butterflies love species that aren't necessarily the smartest flowers. In London, I have Michaelmas daisies, buddleia, lavender, honesty, dandelions. Butterflies like all of these." She'll be doing two butterfly counts - one at her London garden, the other in her Scottish retreat – and hopes that she'll have more luck during the three-week count than she has so far. The Butterfly Conservation offers the following tips to attract butterflies to your garden: ■ Choose sunny, sheltered spots when planting nectar plants, because butterflies like warmth. ■ Select different plants to attract a wider variety of species. ■ Prolong flowering by deadheading regularly, mulching with organic compost and watering well. ■ Don't use insecticides and pesticides which kill butterflies and many pollinating insects. ■ Grow plants which will attract butterflies including buddleia, Verbena bonariensis, lavender, perennial wallflower, marjoram, phlox, nasturtium, escallonia, cone flower, aster, sweet rocket, lobelia and herbs including chives, thyme and mint. ■ Information: Big Butterfly Count takes place from July 20 to August 11. Your radiators might need bleeding, or maybe you are looking to install a new heating system?

David Frear Plumbing and Heating is where to turn for all your heating and plumbing needs.

Based in Sutton, the company is celebrating its 20th anniversary this year, and in that time David and his team have built up an impressive client base.

David and his team, who cover the whole Ely area and further afield, have more than 600 happy customers, the majority of whom keep coming back for more.

According to David it is his team's reliability and personal touch that sets them apart from the rest.

He said: "We pride ourselves on our reliability and attention to customer detail.

DAVID FREAR: No job too big or too small for David's skill set.

Whatever our customer wants or needs, we will be there for them." Whether it's a boiler service you need, a new heating system, a bathroom installation or even a solar panel installation, David Frear Plumbing and Heating is the business to call.

David and his team can cater for any job, big or small, including domestic installations and replacements, gas fire maintenance and installation, and all types of heating, including luxurious under-floor heating.

The firm is also able to take on jobs from larger contractors, including many of the Ely area's leading building companies.

Two Counties success story

BEAUTIFUL weather and eye-catching surroundings were the perfect recipe for record crowds who attended the annual Two Counties Motor Show and Classic Car Show at the Rowley Mile Racecourse, Newmarket, on Sunday.

Now in its 13th year, the organisers, Cambridge and Newmarket Lions Clubs, followed up their promise by delivering the most successful show to date, with stands overrun and interest at an all-time high.

With up to 20 franchises being represented by local dealers, visitors enjoyed checking out the latest models in a relaxed atmosphere with dealer personnel on hand to offer expert advice. A number of cars were sold on the day and lots of potential sales leads were taken.

One of the stars of the show was the Lexus LFA on the Lancaster Toyota/Lexus stand. Priced in excess of £300,000, it has been described by Jeremy Clarkson as the best car he's ever driven.

The Classic Car Show, organised by Newmarket Lion, Mike Bacon, drew a record number of vehicles from individual owners to Classic Car Club members. The winner of the Best Classic is pictured above.

A 1979 Panther de Ville, one of only 62 built, drew the most admiring looks. Owned by John Deed, the de Ville has a V12 Jaguar engine and in its day was £29,000 more than a Rolls-Royce.

Another highlight of the Classics which drew lots of interest from the crowd was a Funny car, a fibreglass-bodied dragster owned by Andy Raw of AMR Motors. "Unbelievably noisy when being tuned up" was the verdict!

Dealer stand sales co-ordinator, Errol Bilton of Cambridge Lions, said: "Year after year, the two clubs work hard to achieve these successful shows and we thank the many motor dealers, traders, Classic car owners and clubs, charitable organisations, our media partners Cambridge News and Star Radio plus the many volunteers for ensuring that local charities can benefit from the monies raised from these shows. This year our chosen charities are Suffolk Young Carers and Headway, the brain injury association."

The response from James Howarth, managing director of Buckingham & Stanley, whose franchises include Cambridge MG, Cambridge Chevrolet and Cambridge Saab, was typical of the response from all the main dealerships. James was delighted with the way the day went.

"The Two Counties event was positive on a number of levels," he said. "It was well represented by most if not all of the local franchised garages and a good deal of support from the many motoring clubs and enthusiasts throughout the East Anglian region and, as a 'died-in-the-wool' Saab man, it was also good to see a stand from the Saab Owners Club!"

"Cambridge MG had a very positive experience with plenty of interest and comments over the presence of the new MG3, which does not officially launch in the UK until September, so it was a bit of a coup to have this all-new MG at the event."

"Our Cambridge Chevrolet team had an exciting day with a strong display that went from the small Chevrolet Spark model, right through to the Camaro the ultimate muscle car in the Chevrolet range. It was also the first time we were able to show the extended-range electric Chevrolet Volt."

■ We would like to apologise to Carrs of Bury St Edmunds who were inadvertently described as being part of the Vindis Group.

CONGRATS: Errol Bilton, dealer stand sales co-ordinator, presents Stuart Pawsey of ALS Skoda with the 'Best Dealer Stand' award.

Volkswagen unveils astonishingly spacious new Golf Estate Mk VII

THE new Golf Estate has been revealed, boasting around 60 per cent more boot space despite an identical wheelbase.

The luggage area, measured only in the boot itself up to the back seats and load cover, has been boosted from the hatchback's 380 litres to an enormous 605 litres. This Mk VII model signals a big increase from the Mk VI, which had 505 litres at its disposal.

With the seats down the maximum load volume is 1,620 litres, up from 1,495 litres in the old Golf Estate.

Also, a payload of around 600kg for all models is equivalent to some small vans. The rear seats can be folded remotely via a release in the boot.

Four petrol engines will be offered (from a 1.2-litre) and three diesels – culminating in the flagship 2.0-litre TDI with 148bhp – will be on offer.

They will use five- or six-speed manual gearboxes as standard, with DSG automatics available for an extra cost on two of the engine choices.

A full BlueMotion model will be made available later in the year, with expected emissions scores of 85.6mpg and 87g/km of CO2.

VOLKSWAGEN'S NEW GOLF ESTATE: Great estate and loads of options.

WINNER: The SEAT Leon.

Award for Seat with the Leon

DURING a ceremony in London's Grand Connaught Rooms this week, Auto Express editor-in-chief Steve Fowler handed the coveted award to new SEAT chairman Jürgen Stackmann.

The Leon scooped a double win, also picking up the Best Compact Family Car award, while there was yet more cause for celebration at the SEAT table as the Alhambra won the Best MPV award – for the third year in a row.

But it was the Leon's night overall, with the Auto Express judging panel giving it the nod for Car of the Year ahead of some very strong competition.

Explaining why the Leon was crowned the year's best car by the UK's best-selling motoring weekly, Auto Express editor-in-chief Steve Fowler said: "We love its style, the way it drives, the quality and the kit. Best of all, you get all that at a bargain price, while running costs will be ultra-low, too.

"The SEAT Leon has beaten some superb cars to be crowned Car of the Year – it's that good," he concluded.

The new SEAT Leon was unveiled at the 2012 Paris Motor Show and hit UK showrooms in March 2013. Priced from £15,670, it offers truly class-leading technology; at launch the Leon became the first family hatchback in the world to offer full-LED headlights, and remains the only one to do so.

This week sees the show-room introduction of the Leon SC, the first ever three-door Leon and the second member of a model family that will shortly also include the Leon ST estate.

Prices for the Leon SC – Sport Coupé – begin at £15,370, rising to £22,075 for an FR-specification car with a powerful 184PS 2.0 TDI engine.

Goodjohn is hands on for comeback

TYLER Goodjohn remains hopeful of setting up a Southern Area title fight with Danny Connor after recovering from a hand injury.

The Wentworth light-welterweight (pictured, right) went under the knife in April after clinching the British Masters belt by stopping Dave O'Connor, having damaged several tendons in his right hand, and has only recently returned to training.

He said: "I knew it had gone two weeks before the fight, but I managed to do some physio to help it because I'd trained hard for it and there was no way I was pulling out."

"After the fight, I took my glove off and my hand was double the size, so I had to have the surgery."

"I've only been back training a few weeks and only been able to use my left hand."

"It's actually been quite useful because I've been working on my jab a lot with only having that one hand to use and that will improve me."

"I've just been doing some bag work and pad work and it's a bit frustrating."

"I've started doing a bit of hitting with my right hand and it's still a bit sore, but the surgeon said it would feel like that for two or three months, so it's just a case of taking my time."

Goodjohn, 22, aims to be back in the ring at London's York Hall in September, with another bout scheduled at Watford Colosseum the following month. But by the end of the year, his main goal is to snatch Connor's Southern Area title, the pair having won one contest apiece from their previous duels.

He said: "I've called out Danny Connor and I'm waiting on him because I can't progress my career until I've won the Southern Area, but if he keeps putting it off, we'll go for the English title."

"I think Eddie Hearn could be interested in putting it on one of his big televised shows because our last fight was voted one of the best of the year in Boxing News."

"If it was at Wembley Arena on Sky a lot more people would see it and it would benefit both our careers."

"Going into another fight with him I know what to do. I felt I'd won our last fight, but from looking at the video of it, I can see little things I could have done."

Goodjohn is also searching for a sponsor for the new season to help with training and travelling costs. Call 07950 685475 if you can help.

A top display from Kurt

KURT Cunningham excelled at the top of the order as Chatteris saw off Great Shelford by five wickets to leave their opponents in the bottom two in the Mr Cricket CCA Senior League, Division One.

He cracked 66 off just 38 balls and shared a 78-run stand with his brother Connor Cunningham (31), before Mark Leach's brutal 34 not out got them to 200 for 5 in just 25 overs.

Great Shelford had previously put 198 for 4 on the board from their 45 overs as Paul Mortlock (54) and James Badcock (51 not out) both made half-centuries, while Ant Palmer, Andrew Wool, Dominic Platt and Leach all got one wicket.

Youngster Karl Anderson amassed 65 as Chatteris II got their first win of the season in Junior League, Division 2N against Abbots Ripton. That knock enabled them to post 217 for 8, before Jake Kaval took 4 for 30 in their opponents' 160 for 9.

City of Ely suffered a nine-wicket defeat to leaders Old Leysians in Senior League, Division Two.

Old Leysians cruised to 179 for 1 after Ely had earlier posted 177 for 9.
